DEAD.

JUSTICE HOWELL E. JACKSON

Of the United States Supreme Court,

Passes Away at His Home in Tennessee.

Associate Justice Howell Edmund Jackson, of the Supreme Court of the United States, died on Thursday afternoon at his home, West Meade, six miles from Nashville, Tennessee. Judge Jackson had been in failing health for the past four years, but it has been only in the past eight or nine months that the progress of his disease began to cause his family and friends uneasiness. Last year he went on a lengthy trip to the far West in search of health. Later he went to Thomasville, Ga., where it was hoped that the mild and yet bracing climate would restore his one time vigorous constitution. The trip did him little good, and after a time he was brought home. At his old home Judge Jackson seemed to improve slightly until he went to Washington to sit in the second hearing of the income tax cases.

Justice Jackson has been steadily falling since his return from Washington, though he seemed to stand the strain of the sitting of the Court fairly well. It was not till Wednesday of the week before his death that he was compelled to give up and take to his bed. Since then his physicians and family recognized that the end was near at hand. The dead Justice had been a severe sufferer for some time past with a dropsical affection that while medical skill and change of climate seemed to relieve somewhat, neither could offer any permanent cure.

Howard Edmund Jackson was born in Paris, Tenn., April 8th, 1832, so that he was in his 63rd year at the time of his death. Justice Jackson was a classical scholar, graduating from the West Tennessee College in 1848.

He studied law two years at the University of Virginia and at Jackson, under his kinsmen, Judges A. W. O. Tottan and Milton Brown, graduated from the Lebanon law school in 1856, in which year he located at Jackson and engaged in the practice of his profession; removed to Memphis in 1859, where he continued the practice of the law; served on the Supreme bench by appointment on two occasions, and was once a prominent candidate for Supreme Judge before the unimpaired convention; relocated in Jackson in 1876; was elected to the State House of Representatives in 1880 on the State credit platform; was elected to the United States Senate as Democrat in 1881, and served till April 12, 1885; was appointed United States Circuit Judge by President Cleveland and unopposed for associate Judge by President Harrison; was confirmed by the Senate February 18, 1893, and entered the duties of that office March 4, 1894.

NEUT LANE.

Wounds Col. H. C. Roden-

baugh and Kills His Son, James.

In a Difficulty at Versailles, Kentucky.

On Monday of last week, W. Newton Lane, who is well known to all our people, shot and wounded Col. H. C. Rodenbaugh and almost instantly killed his son, James, in a difficulty at Col. Rodenbaugh's hotel in Versailles. It seems Lane had been on a spree and coming to Versailles proposed to go out to his sisters, Mrs. Robert McConnell's, a few miles distant, but was persuaded to sober up before he visited her. To this end, he went to a room in the hotel and slept for some hours. When he awoke, Lane came down to the office, and while settling with the proprietor became involved in a difficulty with him. Lane claimed the room was filthy and the proprietor denied the charge. Lane became abusive and Rodenbaugh struck him one or more times, and the son hearing the scuffle ran to his father's assistance. As young Rodenbaugh came in the shooting began and when it was over the younger man was dead and the father so badly hurt that his life was despaired of. Lane was unhurt, save for some bruises about the head and face. Rodenbaugh is very popular and the killing created intense feeling against Lane, who, for safe keeping, was removed to Lexington. Newton Lane comes of a good family and is connected to some of the best people in the county. Of late he had been going all the gates and since several of his escapes have been in and around Lexington, he has managed to create against himself a vast amount of prejudice. His trial is set for August 23.

When last heard from Col. Rodenbaugh was still alive and the prospects for him to get, to some extent, over his wounds was brightening.

KILLED

By The Explosion of a Boiler.

Three Men Suddenly Ushered Into Eternity, and a Fourth Badly Wounded.

Yesterday morning about 9 o'clock the boiler of a saw mill belonging to John Hines exploded with terrific force, scalding three men into eternity in the twinkling of an eye, and badly wounding a fourth.

The mill was located on Clay Lick, in this county, at the discontinue postoffice, Montu View, near Salen Church and very near the Montgomery and Menefee line. The kill were John Hines, the owner of the mill, and his grown son, Butler, and the fireman, Frank Smith.

A. J. Downs, one of the workmen about the mill, was struck on the leg and badly cut by a piece of the exploded boiler. Hines' body was literally blown to pieces, parts of it being picked up as much as eighty yards distant from the mill.

It seems the inspirator was out of order and Smith was working on it, while the other Hines was firing the saw. Smith was so long in getting the inspirator to work that Hines became uneasy and went over to him, and just as he reached him the boiler gave way.

Judge J. J. Byrne and Hon. J. H. Williams, of Frenchburg, came down and sent Undertaker George C. Eastup to take charge of and bury the three bodies.

Ray Moss took his getting, Beauty, to the Sharpshooter fair and made a show in the harness ring and sold him to parties at Cynthiana before the harness was removed.

A PRACTICAL JOKE.

Editor Moffett, of the Cincinnati Tribune,

The Victim of Brother Newspaper Men of Cincinnati,

Who Had Him Arrested as a Fraud.

"Mr. J. C. Moffett, night editor of the Cincinnati Tribune, was last night made the butt of a practical joke at the Phoenix Hotel, in this city, which his fellow newspaper men had arranged for his entertainment. He was spending the night en route to High Bridge, and after registering at the Phoenix had retired at about 10:30 o'clock. At 1:30 o'clock a message was received at Police headquarters from Cincinnati stating that a man representing himself as J. C. Moffett had come to Lexington, but was a fraud and badly wanted there, and to hold him until further orders. Officer Stough immediately went to the hotel and after a few minutes conference with Mr. Davidson, the night clerk, was shown to the room of the sleeping editor.

"He was awakened and on coming to the door was shown the telegram ordering his arrest and detention. Editor Moffett became almost beside himself with fright on hearing it read, and with great beads of perspiration standing out on his forehead, he proceeded to tell his history from his birth and show letters and credentials by the score to prove his innocence of any crime.

"About the time Mr. Moffett had gotten into his clothes and was ready to accompany the officer to the station house, a messenger boy arrived at the hotel with a second message, which stated that the whole affair was only a joke and asking that no further proceedings be taken.

"Mr. Moffett took the joke very good-naturedly, declared that the treats were on him and bade the gentlemen goodnight."—Lexington Transcript.

Editor Moffett is the man who was so demoralized during the term of the February Court here, by Judge Cooper's order to take charge of the scribe for writing in a somewhat disrespectful manner of his Honor. Moffett was so scared that he walked five miles out to take the train, and so effectively hid himself from the irate Judge's threatened vengeance that even his paper could not get track of him for several days.

Montgomery's Legal Hanging.

Unless Governor Brown should interfere, which is not likely, John Johnson, colored, will be hanged at this place on Friday. The crime for which Johnson is to suffer, is the killing of Policeman Charles Evans on the night of Saturday, June 16, 1895. The murder was a villainous one and Johnson is only getting his just deserts in having the death penalty meted out to him. His record all his life long has been a bad one, and he had only been out of the penitentiary a few weeks, when he had served time for malicious cutting, when he fired the shot that is to send him to the gallows. It is said he remarked to some of his chums upon being released from the pen: "I will be back in a few weeks if they don't hang me before I can get here."

If Montgomery county will mete out full justice to some of her white criminals, as well as to the negro toughs, our reputation for law and order will rapidly rise with our friends on every side.

Kentucky May Get the Appointment.

The death of Justice Jackson has led to speculation upon the probabilities of senator Lindsey's appointment. The Senator is known to be close to the President, who is also familiar with his legal ability. Secretary Crispie is also the subject to gossip in connection with the appointment—

Trade Outlook.

The remarkable activity in the iron and steel market continued during the past week, with still further advances in prices and an increased demand. Many plants that had been shut down have resumed. In almost all manufacturing lines the conditions have improved. Improved trade is reported from the largest mills in Western Ohio and along the Ohio valley. One feature of the week was the settlement of the mine troubles in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana, by which it is estimated that the wages of at least 400,000 men will be increased October 1.—Courier-Journal.

Memphis's Senatorial Convention.

Proceedings of a Democratic Mass Convention, of Memphis county. Called to order by J. J. Hyne, Chairman of the County Committee. J. F. Osborn, elected Chairman and B. M. Lee, Temporary Secretary. On motion the Temporary organization was made permanent, and the Chair appointed the following committee on resolutions: T. L. Caudel, Harry Shrou, J. G. Greer, J. B. Wells and J. H. Williams, who reported the following, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we approve the time and place of holding the Democratic Senatorial Convention for this district and that all Democrats of this county are hereby appointed delegates to said convention, and instructed to vote as a unit, all propositions that may come before said convention, as a majority present may designate, unless otherwise herein instructed.

Second, That we adhere strictly to the time-honored principles of Democracy as set forth by Jefferson and interpreted by Jackson, believing that silver is the poor man's money, and being taught by history that when it has been left where our fathers placed it as a primary or redeeming money, times have been more flourishing, farmers have been paid for their products, the laboring masses better remunerated for their work, millions less numerous and tramps, which is only another name for laboring men out of employment, not known in our country. Therefore we further resolve, That it is the will of the Democratic party of Memphis county, that silver be restored to its former position as a redeeming money of our government, and that gold and silver be coined in the United States without limit at the former ratio of 16 to 1.

Third, That we appreciate the mainly courage of the Hon. J. C. S. Blackburn in his efforts to defend the true principles of Democracy and the rights of the masses of the people against the outrageous abuses and wrongs of the Republican party and the moneyed oligarchy of Great Britain and Wall street, and recommend his re-election to the United States Senate by the coming Legislature of Kentucky.

Fourth, That we have the utmost confidence in the integrity, courage and ability of our countryman, J. H. Williams, to represent us in the Senate of Kentucky, knowing him to be a Democrat, sound and true, on the currency question and true to the principles of Democracy according to the traditions of our fathers and the teachings of the worthy leaders of our party, for a century past down to, and including, the days and teachings of our own lamented Beck. Therefore, we hereby instruct our delegates to the Morehead Convention to cast the vote of this county, for the Hon. J. H. Williams, and use all honorable means to secure his nomination for the Senate.

Fifth, That all newspapers are requested to publish these proceedings and the convention is now adjourned.

J. F. OSBORN, Chm.
B. M. LEE, Sec'y.

Election Officers.

County Judges all over the State must, between August 10 and 20, appoint election officers who are to serve for one year. Here are some of the imperative qualifications of these election officers, fixed by section 1448 of the General Statutes:

First—That he shall have been a resident housekeeper in the precinct for which he is appointed for at least one year next preceding his appointment.

Second—He must not have anything of value wagered or bet on the election.

Third—He must not be a candidate at the election.

Fourth—He must be able to read the Constitution of Kentucky in English.

Fifth—He must write a plain and legible hand.

A Montgomery Boy Out West.

Many of our citizens will remember Mr. W. O. Oldham, a brother of our friend and fellow-countryman, John H. Oldham. He is engaged in the insurance business at Springfield, Missouri. The other day we crossed a report of the committee of the Springfield Board of Underwriters, exceedingly complimentary to him and his splendid work as Manager of the South-west Missouri Traction Bureau. Among other things we note the following:

"To act as manager of a large rating bureau like this, in which a man is expected and required to stand between eighty insurance companies and two hundred agents on the one hand, and the great insuring public on the other, requires a man of wide information, untiring zeal, sterling character, and business sagacity and tact."

"To rate the various cities and towns in the district, to give to each community a fair share of the cost, and yet deal fair with the companies who carry the risks, demands large experience and the keenest insight. That W. O. Oldham has met these necessities and requirements needs no attestation."

"Let any agent or company stand up and show wherein they have received unfair treatment."

"Let the assured show wherein they have been rated unjustly."

Death of Mrs. J. T. Young.

Mrs. Dorothy Young, wife of J. T. Young, died at her home in Sharpsburg, on Wednesday evening, August 7, 1895, aged 55 years. Mrs. Young was almost as well known here as at her home. She was a delightful pleasant woman, true and earnest in all life's relations. Devoted to her husband, she lavished on him all her wealth of affection, since there were no children to share it with him. Mrs. Young was an earnest Christian, and since 14 years of age had been a member of the Baptist church. Her true womanliness won her friends on every side, and wide-spread is the sympathy for the stricken husband. For years she has been in exceeding poor health, yet though a great sufferer, she was always fond of going for the one to be cared for and nursed here. The remains were brought to this city on Friday and laid to rest in Macpherson cemetery.

J. L. TAIT, Principal.

Miss Pearl Bruen and Katie Corbett, two of Montgomery county's brightest and handsomest young ladies, and two of her teachers, that rank high up in their profession, stood the examination for State certificates and have been awarded their diplomas. Col. T. S. Moberly, of Richmond, Dead.

On last Wednesday while in bathing at Virginia beach near Old Point Comfort with his family, Col. T. S. Moberly, of Richmond, Ky., was drowned. His body was brought to his late home on last Friday evening and Saturday evening after funeral service at the residence was laid to rest in the beautiful cemetery at Richmond.

Col. Moberly was a relative of Mrs. J. W. Hedden of this city. He was forty years old and leaves a loving mother whose life is far past its meridian, a dear wife and two children. He was a leading citizen and one of the most active business men of Madison County. A trustee of the Madison Female College, a director of one of the leading banks of the city, held other prominent positions in business, but the position in which he felt more honored than any of these was that of being an elder in the First Christian Church of Richmond. Mr. Moberly, for some time past, had been in delicate health and with his family he went to the sea shore to rest from an active life hoping to be benefited. On last Wednesday with his family he was in bathing. Mrs. Moberly had returned to shore, the little daughter thirteen years old had gotten into water beyond her depth and strangled, when Col. Moberly, frightened, hastened to rescue her. The water was deep and the waves high; he struggled to save her and was soon overpowered by a brave man rushed in and saved the child, but when Mr. Moberly was again reached life was almost extinct. He was brought to shore, breathed a few times and his life went out. It was a dreadful sight for a wife on the shore helpless and compelled to see the love of her heart struggle with the mighty waters and yield to the inevitable.

The blow was almost unendurable and in the depths of sorrow the aged, loving mother, the tender, affectionate wife and dear, sweet children were called to bear the heaviest burden of their lives. In the midst of all these bereavements there is sweet comfort. He was a Christian, and while he is absent in the flesh and can not return to them, some sweet day they can go to him. This ends the life of a useful citizen, a true friend and Christian gentleman. May the great Comforter soothe the troubled hearts.

A TRIBUTE OF LOVE TO THE MEMORY OF THOMAS SHERIDAN MOBERLY.

FROM HIS COUSIN.

The subject of this sketch was born in Madison County, Ky., July 18, 1855. He was the only child of fond and adoring parents. None knew his worth or loved him better than I. Being near the same age, we were constantly together, and there was never a brother and sister more affectionate, more true and more tender than we. When at his father's house for months at a time, as I have been, my every wish was his pleasure, and everything that enhanced my happiness so did it his. Of a social disposition, and realizing the ennobling and elevating influence of woman, he was constantly with the girls. It seemed but natural, when just about 20 years of age, he should marry the beautiful and accomplished Miss Ida Brasfield, of Auburn, Ill. Four children blessed their union; two of whom were waiting to meet him. Neville, a son of 18, and Geneva, a fair, lovely girl of 13, are left to mourn the loss of a most affectionate father. To the loving wife and fond, aged mother how heavy the blow. God comfort them.

Well do I remember the day when he gave his boy heart to the Lord. He joined the church at Flatwood, where his mother's membership was at that time. Never have I seen a converted man happier than he was the morning after his baptism. All through his life his church and his God have been paramount in his mind and heart. He was constantly with the girls. It was not all of life to live, nor all of death to die. If he had a fault I can not say what it was. One of the last times he was at my house he had the headache, as he so frequently did, and he said "Bettie put my head in your lap and rub it as you used to." I thought then as I think now, what is your sin in the sight of God? No wonder the Lord took him to himself in a moment of time; he was fit for the peerly gates he called and election was sure. Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord from henceforth; yes, said the spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them."

"Call on the bosom of thy God," Fair spirit, rest thou here. Who with us without thy footsteps tread, His soul was on thy brow.

"Dust to its narrow home beneath. Soiled to its place in night. They that have seen Thy light in death. No more may fear thee die."

What Pleases Others Might Not Please You.

In every instance, but what pleases a highly educated, up-to-date mechanical expert, who is thoroughly posted on the construction of bicycles, from a wheelman's standpoint, as well as that of a strictly high-grade mechanic, is a pretty good pointer to buyers who are in search of the best the market affords.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 15, 1895.

DEAR SIR:—Referring to the Waverley bicycle which I bought of you a few weeks ago, I will candidly admit that I am delighted with it. My first impression was one of surprise at the ease and smoothness of its motion. It appears to be ample strong and substantial in construction and every one must admit that it is most graceful in appearance. I consider it a strictly high-grade machine; otherwise I should not have bought it. It is all you claim it to be. Wishing you well merited success, I remain yours truly,

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed in the spring, when the laughed exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. Only fifty cents per bottle at W. S. Lloyd's drugstore.

It pays to raise potato onions. Farmers who say they do not make their salt on tobacco would do well to follow the example of a man in Louisiana, who raised sixty-seven bushels of potato onions, and 600 gallons of sets on less than half an acre of ground. At prices ruling last spring, which were lower than for many years, the crop would bring $190. The seed cost about $10, planting, working and harvesting $15—a total of $30, leaving clear $110 for forty-five hundredth of an acre.—Louisville Post.

UNIVERSAL PAPER

May be Published Simultaneously in Different Cities.

Typsetting by Telegraph

And it is Ready for The Press.

Telegraphic reproduction of electrotypes for newspaper printing is the latest achievement of electric invention. The typewriter is very remarkable, and consists in the transferring and reproducing of exactly similar newspapers in different cities by telegraph. A ball paper, can by the use of this machine, appear in all the larger cities of Germany at the same hour in the morning without being sent through the mails. The inventor claims for their apparatus not only increasing rapidly, but they say also that it will reduce the cost of printing. The inventors and patentees, Messrs C. Meray-Horvath and C. Boar at Graz, describe the working of the apparatus as follows:

The copy is first of all run off on a typewriter, next to the typewritten copy, which serves as corrector's proof, a special attachment releases a narrow strip of silver paper, which is covered by a number of short strokes and dots constituting an alphabet peculiar to this machine. These strokes and dots are made by means of a chemical fluid, which so changes the metallic surface of the paper that it becomes non-conductive. Any corrections becoming necessary can be made on the strip of silver paper; insertion or cutting out of copy is also easily performed. After being edited and corrected, the long strip of silver paper is rolled up on a reel, and inserted into a telegraphic apparatus, which when set in motion, will reproduce the same strokes and dots in similar silver paper at any distance, and in any number of apparatus connected at the same time. These strips of silver paper are placed into the "Electric Telegraph." The strip passes beneath six points of electric contact covering the entire width of the metallic surface. This typograph operates in such a way that the steel type representing each character is impressed upon a prepared cardboard in the proper order. An automatic mechanism provides for the varying width of the type, for the spacing and alignment, and for the moving of the cardboard at the end of the line. The cardboard fully covered with characters represents one solid column of copy, and is ready for the electrotype. As compared with the typesetting machines now in use this apparatus gives the advantage of correcting and editing the entire copy from the typewritten proof sheets. The inventors claim for the typograph that it will do the work of eight expert typesetters and save two-thirds of the cost of setting up the copy by hand.—Louisville Post.

Winter Oats

Winter Oats are one of the best paying crops that can be grown. Wherever introduced they are superior spring crops entirely. Oats are essentially a cool weather crop, and flourish either partial or total with spring oats, on account of the hot, dry weather of June and July, are so common that many farmers are entirely discouraged from growing them. This trouble is entirely obviated by substituting winter oats. They are sown at the same time a winter wheat, and ripen with wheat the following season, so that the harvesting and threshing may all be done at the same time. The variety we grow in Belmont is perfectly hardy—as much so as Pultz wheat—and withstanding the severest weather perfectly. On good soil a yield of 50 to 80 bushels is common. They grow a strong, stiff straw, which stand up well. They are a very heavy oat, a measured bushel weighing from 38 to 45 lbs. I have known crops of these oats this season that gave an average of 80 bushels per acre on 20 to 30 acre fields. One and a half bushels per acre are enough to sow. Winter oats are also a good crop to seed clover with. The same fertilization and tillage that will produce a good wheat crop will give a big crop of winter oats.—American Agriculturist.

A Leather Gun.

A surprising test was made at the Sandy Hook grounds, Tuesday. The cannon on which the members of the ordinance board experimented was made of twisted wire with a core of steel and an outer wrapping of copper wire. It is the invention of a Frenchman, one Frederick La Tulip, who lives in Syracuse. The opinion expressed by those who saw the test—from a very safe distance—was that Tulip was a daisy. The inventor has made a boat and other things of leather, and he has now made a gun that has stood remarkable strain. It is five feet eight inches long, and is mounted on a home-made gun carriage. Its weight is only 450 pounds, a considerable part of that probably lying in the steel core which is of an inch thick at the muzzle and 1 1/2 inches thick at the breech. The officers had never seen or fired a gun like it, and they all placed sand and distance between themselves and the implement when it was fired. The cannon used a lanyard about 150 feet long and stood behind a bank. When the order was given to fire all hands ducked and lay low for some seconds after the report, for it was believed the gun would not last. To the surprise of all the cannon had endured a strain of 2 1/2 tons to the square inch. This strain was increased by heavier charges of powder until it had gone up to 30,360 pounds to the inch, at which point it broke from its carriage with the recoil. Two balls of 2 1/2 inch diameter were fired in each of the latter tests.

Undoubtedly the endurance of the gun is due to its elasticity. Officers in the army will scoff at the invention, of course, and say there is nothing in it. Everything new has been derided by those who knew it could not succeed, and when it has succeeded they have fallen into line with the majority very reluctantly. It is, of course, too early to say exactly what value the new gun may have in actual war; but it has demonstrated two decided advantages, it is light and it stays cool. If it can be fitted to a carriage that will enable it to resist the recoil inevitable in a light gun under a heavy charge, it can be used for coast defense and maritime artillery. It would seem, and with lighter charges it would have a decided advantage over the field guns now in use, in that it would be easier to move about. It may be that the officers will succeed in bursting the new piece, although if they do so they will accomplish no more than they might do with many of the brass or steel weapons. But a principle seems to have been discovered that may lead to extensive changes in artillery. In a muzzle-loading gun of raw hide can endure such a test as that of Tuesday it is not too much to believe that a larger gun of the same material, constructed under the direction of army engineers and made for breech loading, should accomplish still greater wonders.

It may be incidentally remarked that leather guns are not new; nor are wooden ones; nor Quaker guns; for that matter. Wooden cannons were in use in the Civil war and wooden cannons, bound with hoops, have been employed, for lack of better, in emergencies. Something has been hoped from aluminum, that being lighter than steel and free from rust, but it is liable to bond and a gun with a dent in it would become more dangerous to the man who fired it than to the enemy. Perhaps one of these days we shall have a gun made of paper. They are making car wheels and other things of it that have to endure weight and strain, and guns may be the next development.—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Born Diplomat.

Charley was caught napping on the porch of the summer resort. A pair of soft little hands covered his eyes, and a sweet voice commanded: "Guess who it is?" Nothing very dreadful for Charley you think; but then you don't know that Charley was engaged to two girls, and to the life of him, couldn't decide which voice it was, which made it a very embarrassing situation for Charley. A wrong guess would lead to complications awful to think of. But a happy thought inspired Charley, and he announced: "It is the dearest, sweetest little girl in all the world." "Oh, you lovely boy!" gurgled the satisfied one as she removed her little hands.

And now Charley thinks of applying for a foreign ministry, feeling that his talents would be wasted in any other than diplomatic field.—Ex.

A LOST ART.

The Secret of Welding Copper to Iron Discovered

By Three Iron Workmen Who Will Demonstrate the Fact at Homestead.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 11.—George Cromley, Cornelius Shay and John Ryan, iron and steel workers, have discovered the lost art of welding copper to iron or steel. They show several samples of the metals perfectly welded. The latest record history gives of these metals having been welded was in Scandinavia in 900 B. C. The value of the discovery comes in the fact that copper offers a greater resistance to the action of salt water than any other metal. The Carnegie company has offered the men a fixed price for the secret. A shop has been fitted up for the men at the Homestead plant, where to-morrow the men propose to weld a plate of copper to an iron plate of armor plate. The Carnegie company hopes to be able to cover all armor plates for the big battle ships with copper.

The Bracken Association of Baptists convened at Millersburg last Wednesday. The meeting was largely attended and elegantly entertained. The officers for the ensuing year are: W. L. Lums, Moderator; J. W. Hedden, Clerk; and W. H. Fritts, of Carlisle, Treasurer.

The plans for missionary work were broadened and a perfect system will be adopted by a committee appointed for that purpose. Association adjourned Friday to convene with the Mt. Pisgah church August 1896.

The Bracken Board was organized with Mr. Charles Bollinger, of Lewisburg, Chairman; W. H. Fritts, Secretary; and Rev. Cleon Keys, Financial Agent.

The delegates who attended from the Mt. Sterling Baptist church were W. R. Nunneley, J. W. Hedden, Mrs. Mattie Donohue, and Mrs. L. G. Denton. All denunciations participated in the entertainment of the Association, and each delegate expressed himself as having the best home.

FOURTEEN JURORS TO TRY DURRANT.

Two Alternates to Act in Case of Illness.

San Francisco, Aug. 7.—District attorney Barnes announces that for the purpose of avoiding delays that might arise from the sickness or death of jurors, fourteen jurors will be impaneled to try Durrant. The attorneys on both sides have agreed to this action from the fact that the trial is expected to last several months. Two extra jurors will attend the session of court regularly, the same as the other jurors but will take no part in formulating a verdict unless called upon to act as alternates. The law authorizing the swearing in of extra jurors was passed two years ago by the California Legislature.

The Kentucky Gun.
Kentucky continues free and reckless in the use of the pocket gun and sparing of its hemp.—(Pittsburg Dispatch).

Kentucky is overrated. What commercial activity she has comes from the selling of race horses and whiskey to Northerners. Next to horses and whiskey her specialty is homicidal colonels.—(Chicago News).

If Kentuckians are shocked by the savage Kentucky way it is their own fault. It is because they make murder safe and respectable by encouraging the murderous disposition and condoning the crime. If a Kentuckian has powerful family and friendly influences he can arm himself to kill, and kill his fellow men without loss of standing or fear of the consequences.—(St. Louis Post-Dispatch).

Appropos of the Chitral war honors. It is stated that nearly 10 per cent. of the recipients of the Victoria Cross are military doctors, to whom the rate of combat officers was long denied, as though they were not considered good enough to be placed on an equality with the combat officers. There are 147 holders of the cross for valor, and of this number 14 are army doctors, Dr. Whitehouse being the fourteenth military medical officer now living who has gained the coveted bronze medal and red ribbon for bravery.

HORSE AND TRACK.

Andy McDowell says Alix is right and good and that she can beat Azote. McLeury says he is willing to start John R. Gentry in a race against any or all of the great pacers.

Jo Patchen again defeated the champion, Robert J., at Buffalo. Patchen lost one heat in 2:04; his winning heats were 2:04, 2:04, and 2:04.

Dallie Wilkes won second money at Terre Haute in the 2:15 trot. B. B. P. won the race in 2:12, 2:12 and 2:12. This is Dallie's first start this season.

The 2:10 pace at Terre Haute was won by Fido in straight heats in the last time of 2:04, 2:04, and 2:05. The country will be full of horses for the free for all pace before the season closes.

B. F. Herriot left last Saturday for Galesburg, Ill. He takes three horses with him and should win money as his horses are all fast and good in their classes.

Beuzetta met for the first time at Buffalo in the 2:13 trot, the race horse Klamath. It was a race worth seeing. Klamath won the first heat in 2:10; Beuzetta won the race and lowered the track record. The time was 2:07, 2:14, 2:06. It looks as if this four-year old mare will hold the record before the season closes.

No class of persons feel the pulse of the "supply-and-demand" side of the horse business more closely than the heavy dealers in the large cities, and if their diagnosis be correct the supply is gradually shortening. They say they can sell more good horses than they can get. While breeding has been for years lessening, the export trade has been increasing, and the home consumption going on as usual. The great dealers have representatives scouring the country for horses, but they fail to find all they want of the kind they want. There is a very encouraging outlook as to the market for all varieties of horses from now on—but it must not be forgotten that only good horses of any kind are, or will be, in demand.

Red Hot Weather.
Rev. H. H. Hicks gives the following forecast for balance of August: About the 16th great heat will recur, during which storms will threaten in many places, but as a rule they will result in little rain and much blister. The times of respite from summer heat will, as a rule, fall between the storm dates of the calendar, beginning in the western western sections before the end of the storm periods. From 19th to 23rd is a reactionary period, with new moon at an eclipse on the 30th. Heavy summer storms with earthquake probabilities about the 20th and 21st. Colder weather will follow about 25th. Mercury equinox on 30th will affect storms of this period, with much cloudiness and rain, and very cool weather following. Probably frost in extreme North about 26th to 29th. Month ends growing warmer, with storm conditions reappearing in the western sections.

Louisville Tobacco Market.

Sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 3485 hhds., with receipts for the same period 2462 hhds. Sales on our market since January 1 amount to 124,495 hhds. Sales of the crop of 1894 on our market to this date amount to 124,370 hhds. The characteristic of the barley tobacco this week has been its irregularity, at times there was a decided falling in prices on some grades, but values at the close of the week ruled about as they did last week. The growing barley crop while less in acreage than the crop of last year, is reported generally in good condition with a prospect of a full yield.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for barley tobacco 1894 crop:

Trash. (Dark or damaged tobacco) $1.50 to $2.75.
Common colory trash, $2.75 to $3.25.
Medium to good colory trash, $3.50 to $5.00.
Common lugs, not colory, $2.50 to $4.00.
Common colory lugs, $4.00 to $5.50.
Medium to good colory lugs, $5.50 to $8.00.
Common to medium leaf $5.00 to $7.50.
Medium to good leaf, $7.50 to $12.
Good to fine leaf, $12 to $15.
Select wrappery leaf, $15 to $28.00.

Sale of Hogs.

James Morris has sold in the last week hogs to the following farmers: To G. W. Heady, 108 at $4.50. To Downs & Co. 13 at $4.50. To Lindsey & Co. 100 at $4.50. Mr. Morris says that hogs are scarcer than he ever knew them and very hard to find. He bought these way up in the Sandy Valley.—Lexington Gazette.

Marvelous Result.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gundersen, of Dinwiddie, Michigan, we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at River Junction she was down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at W. S. Lloyd's DrugStore. Regular size 50c. and 1.00.

Things are different. Chills could just jump on a little, unwarmed bed of American soldiers, on shore to avoid surgery, and "national" them with her military prowess. But when it came to the American nation, the past the slow to anger, but terrible when aroused, U.S.A. was there and there was no question but what he "was in it." It is worth something, after all, to be an AMERICAN CITIZEN. It means a good deal. The same is true of Dr. Fenger's Kidney and Bladder Cure. It means every thing, when it is known and used by those who are in need. If you are bowed down with kidney disease, female weakness, or blood impurities, together with their results of backache, rheumatism, aches, pains, nervousness, dyspepsia, constipation, the bilious, nervous, headache, eye troubles, salt rheum, or any kindred affliction, as well as heart disease, indigestion, dropsy, etc., use means a restoration to health, as elastic step, firm cheeks, strength and buoyancy. In short it means being "on deck" again. If you are in need take a little home today. If satisfaction not given money refunded.
